Hazard Mitigation Plan Update
Work Session

Brian and Cody came from INRCOG to conduct a work session to update the Hazard Mitigation Plan for the City of Waverly. This plan will be adapted to fit the format of the Bremer County Multi-jurisdictional Plan. Waverly’s current plan was created in 2009 and is good through October 2014. The Bremer County Plan is good through April 2017. To update the plan, the group needs to go through the list of action steps for each hazard. Each was recorded as something that is done, active, or something that is a future step. This was completed during tonight’s work session.

To prepare for the next work session, all hazards need to be ranked based on historical occurrence, probability, vulnerability, maximum threat, severity, and speed of onset. Individuals should be able to do this to bring to the next meeting. The next meeting is set for Monday, April 14, 2014. Rankings will be compiled to determine any changes to the priority value of hazards from the current plan. The new rankings will be incorporated into Waverly’s section of the Bremer County Plan.
