7. Description

The Traetow House at 109 4th Ave SW is estimated to have been constructed in 1925 according to the Bremer County Assessor's records. This date is consistent with the building's form that appeared in Waverly from the 1870s through the 1930s. Property transfer records do not reveal a clear construction date, however, when combined with death records provide evidence that the house was built in ca. 1926 after the death of Carl C. Traetow, a retired Warren Township farmer. Before his death, he and his wife Emma resided at several addresses in Waverly. Emma Traetow likely had this house built for her daughter, Emma, after her husband's death. She died in 1939 and the property passed to her daughter Emma. Therefore, a slightly modified date of ca. 1926 is used for this residence.

This house is an example of a vernacular Gable-Front-and-Wing 2-story house form. The building has a parged concrete block foundation with wide aluminum clapboard-style siding on the walls. The house has a low-to-moderate pitched intersecting-gable roof with a side-gabled wing extending to the east and no porch. Fenestration includes a combination of replacement units – smaller 1/1 double-hung window units and single-light casement units and fixed sash. A group of the latter appear on the first floor to either side of the entrance.

The house has a large detached garage completed in 1982. It measures 24 x 30 feet, is clad in matching aluminum siding, has a broad front-gabled roof, and is located south of the house. It is considered a noncontributing resource.

8. Significance

The Traetow House at 109 4th Ave SW derives significance as a contributing resource in the Sturdevant SW Historic District under both Criteria A and C. The historic district qualifies for the National Register of Historic Places as a well-preserved collection of mid and late 19th century and early 20th century architectural styles and vernacular house forms located in Waverly's southwest residential neighborhood. The neighborhood developed as a middle class and working class residential district from the late 1850s through the mid-20th century. The garage is noncontributing.

Historical Background for Waverly¹

Waverly was established in 1853 along the Cedar River in Waverly Township located in southeastern Bremer County. It was designated as the county seat for Bremer County the same year that the county was officially organized and was formally incorporated in 1859. Like most Iowa towns established before the Civil War, growth during the early 1860s was deferred until after the war came to a close. Waverly's first railroad, the Cedar Falls and Minnesota Railroad was extended to Waverly in 1864. Eventually track was also laid for other branch lines and an electric interurban. By 1917 track for branch lines was absorbed by the Chicago and Great Western Railroad and the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad. Track for the electric interurban – the Waterloo, Cedar Falls, and Northern – was laid in 1910 but usage was never as substantial as predicted.

Waverly grew in the manner typical of other Iowa county seats in the late 19th and early 20th century. Its commercial center extended along the east-west route of Bremer Avenue on both sides of the Bremer Avenue Bridge that crossed the L-shaped course of the Cedar River as it passed through the center of town. The county courthouse was located outside of the commercial area on a slight prominence at the east end of Bremer Avenue. Residential districts grew up in the four quadrants formed by the intersecting main street and river. The broad, generally flat profile of both the business district and early residential neighborhoods saw the regular occurrence of flooding resulting in the gradual replacement of most first generation frame building stock. German immigrants were among the largest ethnic group to populate Waverly during the 19th century establishing religious institutions with ethnic affiliations such as St. Paul's Lutheran Church in the northwest quadrant, St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church in southeast quadrant, and the German Methodist Church.

Bremer County and its county seat of Waverly prospered during the late 19th and early 20th century becoming a retail and professional services center for Bremer County and sections of adjacent Butler County. The county's standing as the "Dairy Spot of Iowa," gave rise to a number of dairy industries including a manufacturing plant operated by the Carnation Milk Products Company for the production of condensed milk in the 1920s. Population stood at 16,300 people in 1900 before the growth rate slowed before World War I. By 1930 population topped 17,000. Expansion of a Lutheran seminary in Waverly first located in the community in 1879 through the relocation of Wartburg College to the community in 1939 was a cultural and economic stimulus for the community. Waverly continued to add a 1,000 people per decade until 1950 when the post-War boom saw growth accelerate to more than 21,000 by 1960. During the past 50 years population has slowed somewhat topping out at 23,325 in 2000.

Historical Background for the Traetow House at 109 4th Ave SW:

The Traetow House at 109 4th Ave SW is located in the southwest quadrant of Waverly that includes additions platted by Ira Sturdevant and his son William Sturdevant. The Sturdevant family moved to the unsettled area along the Cedar River in the mid-1850s. Ira received a 40-acre federal land grant based on his military service in the War of 1812. William acquired 80 acres of adjoining land to the north of his father's 40-acre parcel. In 1857 the William Sturdevant's Addition was laid out and in 1860 the Ira Sturdevant Addition was platted. Settlement remained sparse in the additions until after the Civil War. This house was built in the Ira Sturdevant Addition.

The Traetow House at 109 4th Ave SW is estimated to have been constructed in 1925 according to the Bremer County Assessor's records. This date is consistent with the vernacular architectural form of the building but has not been confirmed by city directories or Sanborn Maps. Though property transfer records do not reveal a clear construction date, when combined with death records for family members who held the house during the 1930s and early 1940s, they suggest that the house was built in ca. 1926 soon after the death of Carl C. Traetow, a retired Warren Township farmer. Before his death, he and his wife Emma resided at several addresses in Waverly. Emma Traetow most likely had this house built for her daughter, Emma, after her husband's death. The mother died in 1939 and the property then passed to her daughter Emma. By 5/23/1939 the house was owned by Emma Traetow, daughter of Carl C. and Emma Traetow, who held the property until 10/1/1943 when it was transferred to William Rathe. A few years later in 1946, the house was transferred to William and Bertha Kaiser who held it briefly.
